SHOOT ALL YOU
PLEASE SUNDAY;
COURT WILLING

Shooting of Crows as Private Diversion Doesn't Constitute Sabbath-Breaking

SEASON OPENS AT 12:01
TONIGHT AS LAW STATES

Fields Will Be Filled Tomorrow
With Thousands of Sportsmen
Gunning for Birds

North Dakota sportsmen have the permission of the supreme court to shoot their heads off tomorrow. The opinion of the court holding Sunday shooting not a crime, written by Judge Robinson, follows:

"The shooting of crows as a private diversion not witnessed by the public generally in such a way as not to attract a crowd or to injure anyone does not constitute the crime of Sabbath-breaking."

To shoot or not to shoot beginning at midnight tonight remained a debate-Dakota sportsmen until this afternoon, when the supreme court announced its decision.

The law says that the season for prairie chickens, duck and other water fowl opens at midnight.

The law also says that all manner of shooting shall be prohibited on Sunday.

Attorney General Langer had orally denied responsibility for oral opinions ascribed to him to the effect that game wardens should be held responsible for the enforcement of the ban on Sunday shooting. He had not, however, intimated that he would not undertake the enforcement of this law through the state's attorneys.

Fields Will Be Filled.

The only danger of law-breaking confronting the North Dakota sportsman tomorrow is that he may injure someone. The fields will be filled with gunners as a result of the court's decision. A general exposure is now in progress. Evening trains will carry scores of game birds and ducks runs. Light and early tomorrow morning, before the sun is up, automobile-loads of eager sportsmen will be on their way.

Taken by Surprise.

Some 60,000 city sportsmen, who have little chance to hunt on Sunday, apparently did not awake to the fact that the legislature had more or less specifically prohibited this sport until an oral opinion came from the office of Attorney General Langer to the effect that the ban on Sunday shooting would be enforced and that the season would not open this fall on Sept. 16 because that date fell on Sunday, but that sportsmen must refrain from blazing away until 12:01 a. m. Monday, Sept. 17. To test the validity of the section prohibiting Sunday shooting, a friendly suit was instituted in Judge Cole's court in Cass county, with A. K. Davis as the defendant, and an immediate appeal was taken to the supreme court, where the case was advanced on the docket for hearing Friday, in order that a decision might be reached, if possible, before the opening of the hunting season.

Can't Store Birds.

Sportsmen received one setback Friday, when Judge Nussle in the Burleigh county district court ruled that the legislature meant business when it prohibited the storage of prairie chickens last fall. This decision came in denying an application of Game Warden William Reko of Mandan for a writ of mandamus compelling Secretary George M. Hogue of the North Dakota game and fish board to issue permits for storing prairie chickens. Judge Nussle ruled that the old law permitting the storage of prairie chickens is superseded by the act of the last session prohibiting storage, even though the latter does not specifically repeal the former.

Open Season.

Prairie chickens, grouse and partridge may be killed between Sept. 16 and 17.

RUSSIANS TORTURED
IN PRISON CAMPS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15.—Another chapter is added to the story of the tortures of German prisoners by Russian soldiers who escaped by tunnelling with a knife under the electrically charged fence along the Antwerp-Rosendahl line. It has been forwarded to the state department from Petrograd.

Brutal treatment and poor and insufficient food have cost Germany the labor of thousands of prisoners, the story of a German prisoner in the west, from consisting of 2,000 men, has been reduced to less than 500. The daily rations for a prisoner, he reported, consisted of a small amount of bread and turnip soup, the soup enriched now and then by a bit of horse meat. The unfit, the wounded, and those who had lost members of their bodies, were kept in invalid camps until they died, but never, he says, returned to camps in Germany, because the officers in command feared the psychological effect on the people. Stern methods were used to compel prisoners to work, he said.

Even Inch of Rain Follows
The Missouri

Heavy Downpour Drenches Soil to Depth of Several Inches, Paving Way for Plowing

SEERES PREDICTS GOOD
CONDITIONS FOR FLAX

An even inch of rain, the heaviest since June 5, fell in Bismarck Friday. Fessenden enjoyed .74 of an inch of precipitation; Minot and Napoleon, .45; Williston, .46, and Bowbells, .38. At Dickinson, west of Bismarck, only .12 of an inch fell, and at Jamestown an equal distance east, there was but .08 of an inch. The rain seems to have been confined to a narrow strip extending through the center of the state from Williston to Napoleon, and following very generally the Missouri valley, with an erratic off-shoot to include Fessenden.

Accompanied by warm temperatures, the heavy rains in the central portion will prove beneficial to pastures and may help late potatoes to some extent. Their most important effect will be to place the soil in good condition, for fall plowing, and, old timers predict, to pave the way for a good, money making crop of flax next season.

36 MEN CALLED TO REPORT NEXT WEEK FOR CAMP

Registrants Who Will Make Up
Burleigh County's Forty Per Cent Selected by Board

TO SPEND FIRST NIGHT
OUT IN CAPITAL CITY

Sheriff French urges that postmasters cooperate by mailing out notices to drafted men without delay.

Thirty-six men and ten alternates have been summoned by the Burleigh county local exemption board to report in Bismarck at 5 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon to prepare to entrain for Camp Dodge, Des Moines, Ia., as 40 percent of Burleigh county's quota, called by the provost marshal general for the September 16 period. The men will spend Tuesday night and most of Wednesday in the capital city, entraining some time Wednesday afternoon. Bismarck in common with other mobilization points is planning a patriotic demonstration in honor of its citizen soldiers, and their departure will be made a memorable occasion.

Felix Orlando, Burleigh county's member of the "253" club and an organization being formed by registrants in every district who were fortunate enough to hold the first number drawn at Washington, is included in this quota. As is Carl Lewis Hagan, the second man drawn. These were the first two men examined by the Burleigh county board, and neither claimed exemption. The list includes a number of well known Bismarck young men, among them being George Wahler, who has been in charge of the newspaper bookkeeping department for The Tribune; Gus S. Grant, proprietor of an upholstery establishment on Fourth street, and John B. Rhud.

Begin Military Life.

Military life for these select service men begins at 5 o'clock next Tuesday when they report to the local exemption board. From that hour until they are discharged upon final examination at Camp Dodge, or until the end of the war, or discharge from the ranks, they remain in the service of Uncle Sam. Out-of-town registrants will be housed at the expense of the government over night, and will be fed by Uncle Sam at local restaurants. Bismarck registrants may upon application obtain permission to spend these last few hours at home, but they must report for inspection bright and early Wednesday morning. A transportation officer will accompany the contingent to Camp Dodge and remain with them until they are safely delivered over to the camp commandant.

MEXICO DENIES
HE SENT WIRES

Declares That He Never Used
Swedish Charge to Convey Information

WASHINGTON, HAS AMPLE
PROOF OF OFFENSE

German Press Demands Instant Recall of Lueburg for Sending Message

Mexico City, Sept. 15.—Heinrich von Eckhardt, the German minister to Mexico, tonight made a statement denying everything in connection with the disclosures from Washington that he had been employing a Swedish charge to convey information to the Berlin office. He declared he never sent any communication through Cronholm or that he ever wrote any communication recommending Cronholm for a decoration for his services.

AROUSES NO ANXIETY.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15.—German Minister Eckhardt's denial has aroused no anxiety at the state department, where officials consider their investigation determines the authenticity of the disclosures and that Von Eckhardt's letter speaks for itself.

MAKE LUXBURG THE GOAT.

Amsterdam, Sept. 15.—The three cablegrams sent by Count Luxburg, German minister to Argentina, to the German foreign office through the Swedish legation have finally been permitted to be published in the German press.

The Koelnische Zeitung says it is easy to understand that the publication of these dispatches in Argentina has made an unpleasant impression, and that President Wilson has so far probably been successful with his maneuvers, but adds that they can only be rightly judged if it is not forgotten that they were secret messages in code, and if the dispatches of entente diplomacy could be read, still more drastic expression would be encountered.

It is self-evident says the paper that the German government cannot be held responsible for the opinion of any one of its ministers, nor the German navy accused of atrocities.

"We are also confident that the advice of Count Luxburg will meet with decided disapproval of our government. We demand that the minister who forwarded such dispatches be recalled as quickly as possible. Count Luxburg should be permitted to disappear without leaving any trace behind."

Regarding the phrase in one of Count Luxburg's dispatches about sinking steamships without leaving a trace, the paper says it does not mean sinking a ship with all hands, but so sinking her that military machines might be avoided, for example concealing the facts from other ships that she was sunk by a submarine and not a mine.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS
MUTILATION OF SON
OF ODENSE FARMER

Mandan, Sept. 15.—Mystery surrounds the mutilation of the three-year-old son of Peter Leingang, Odense farmer, who was discovered lying unconscious and with his face terribly gashed, in the yard of the Leingang home. The boy has been removed to a local hospital, where he has partially recovered consciousness, but still unable to offer any explanation of his condition. He probably will recover, but will bear disfiguring scars for life.

ROOT IN STIRRING ADDRESS
DEFINES FOR NATION MEANING OF TREASON TO UNITED STATES

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Treason to America in the world war was defined by Elihu Root, and labor was pledged to fight until world toriysh had been overthrown, by Samuel Gompers at a patriotic rally here last night, staged by the National Security league, for the announced purpose of vindicating Chicago against the alleged intimations of unpatriotism.

"The men who are speaking, and writing, and printing arguments against the war now and against everything that is being done to carry on the war, are rendering more effective service to Germany than they ever could render in the field with arms in their hands, declared the former secretary of state amid cheers. "It is impossible to resist the conclusion that the greater part of them are at heart traitors to the United States."

Declaring that General Grant said "let us have peace" only "after" Lee had surrendered, Mr. Gompers asserted that "after Kaiserism had surrendered, then we too will have peace." "There can be no peace," he continued, "while there is a Tonten on the soil of France. There must be no

Scenes Common to Army Camps
And Typical of Those North Dakota
Boys Will Face Next Week in Iowa

Above, right, boys of Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, Ky., Sept. 15.—Give us a few months of training and we'll make the best army in the world.

Private Davis Eli of West Frankford, Ill., was talking. Surrounded by a handful of other southern Illinois boys, he was seated on a grassy hillside in this training camp.

Photographer Dorman and I stopped, our attention caught by Private Eli's words. They came as near to bombast, to bragging, as anything we had heard from a member of the new national army.

To me, one of the remarkable things about this army is the lack of bragadocio. I started on this trip expecting to hear much on-to-Berlin, to heck-with-the-kaiser talk. I heard none of it at Camp Sherman, in Ohio; I've heard none of it here.

Private Davis Eli was very much in earnest. "I'll tell you why this selective service army is going to be a world beater," he continued.

"It's because its made up of just average Americans. Were not West Pointers. Most of us never intended to be soldiers. But we're not loafers or slackers, just good, average Americans. And the average American is the best man in the world."

We had further proof that Private Davis Eli means business, an hour later, when we saw him behind one of the mess halls, scraping lustily at a grease-coated cooking vessel.

"This is a new job for me," he said grinning. "I'm a lawyer."

The enthusiasm with which he scraped, quite as much as the way he had talked, convinced me that Private Eli and the thousands of others like him among the 5 per cent of the selective service soldiers already in the camps which dot the country will rise high in what he calls this "army of averages."

Officers tell me that most of these first men to the camps will be corporals and sergeants—and later, probably, lieutenants and captains.

It was raining when we reached Camp Taylor, a slow drizzle that turned the Kentucky clay to a slippery, foot-tangling mess. But the new soldiers seemed happy.

"I reckon we ain't a-going to RICK," drawled a Kentucky mountaineer in a breathing spell allowed him between drill. "We're here, and we're here to stay. The way I see it, there ain't much we can do but grin and take what's comin' to us."

They tell here at the camp of one youngster, scion of a proud bluegrass who balked at washing utensils.

But he saw, after a little talk from the lieutenant of his company. And he washed with a will, plunging to the elbows in steamy dishwater.

The new army, as we saw it today, is still an army of motley garb. Uniforms have been issued yet and the men are still wearing the assortment of clothing in which they came to camp.

But the routine of camp days, beginning with reveille at 5:45 a. m. and ending with taps at 9:30 p. m. is developing in them a wholesome respect for discipline. They're learning to obey orders, and to obey them with snap and vim.

On the camp's daily schedule I find the hours from 7:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m., and from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. set apart for drill. That means long periods of marching on weary feet; long periods of back-breaking bending, backward and forward, backward and forward. But all that is very necessary and very important.

And there are plentiful hours for recreation. Desks in the green buildings of the Young Men's Christian Association are being used for recreation. Desks in the green buildings of the Young Men's Christian

Place Where Ship Was Attacked
Is Near Scene of U-53 Activities

An Atlantic Port, Sept. 15.—A British steamship, which arrived here, reported that early yesterday morning a wireless S. O. S. call was heard stating that the ship from which the message came was being shelled by a German submarine. The location was given as 65 miles east of Nantucket lightship. The name of the ship attacked does not come clear, only the word "Abby" presumably the last half of the name being caught.

Additional information that a submarine was in the Atlantic was brought by another British liner which arrived today from a British port. Officers of the liner said they had been instructed to watch out for U-boats when nearing the United States coast.

There are a number of vessels, sail and steam, of which the words "Abby" is a part of their names, now engaged in Atlantic trade.

The place where the ship reported she was being attacked is near where the German submarine U-53 sank six steamships on its visit to American waters in October, 1916.

HINDENBURG SAYS
WILSON'S POLICIES
UNITED GERMANS

Amsterdam, Sept. 15.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, replying in a message to the Cologne Chamber of Commerce, to one or more of a series of anti-Wilson protests from German organizations, is quoted in a telegram received by the Dutch News agency as saying:

"By his attempt to create disunity, President Wilson has succeeded in uniting the German people. I don't doubt that Mr. Wilson will receive a clear answer by the seventh war loan.
May Mr. Wilson continue in the future to be a part of the board which ever intends evil and does good."

Washington, Sept. 15.—The war cred-tificates aggregating $11,538,000,000 and the largest measure of its kind in the world's history was passed by the senate late today without a roll call

GERMAN ARRESTED
ON SPY CHARGE

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Paul Schultz, 24 years old, is under arrest today after federal agents, in searching his room at Evanston, Ill., a suburb, found a large assortment of burglar's tools and a trunk containing numerous letters. None of the latter were signed, and each was numbered in the order of its receipt. The letters are now being examined by experts for code signs. Schultz is said to have recently returned from Fargo, N. D., where he was suspected of engaging in peace propaganda work.

ENTENTE AGREES
TO WAIVE BOXER
TAX FOR 5 YEARS

China Will Boost Tariffs in Order to Fill Her War
Chest

PLANS MADE FOR FULL PARTICIPATION

Peking, Sept. 15.—Ministers of the entente powers have advised the foreign office that their governments are willing to wait for the Boxer inden-nity payments for five years. Russia waives only one-third of the first portion of the indemnity, requiring the remainder because of her financial straits.

"The United States, it is said, probably will ratify the action of the entente nations, but will not waive its portion of the Boxer indemnity, which is necessary to maintain the Chinese students in America."

The entente countries also will grant to China the privilege of increasing her tariff to an effective five per cent, which represents something like a two per cent rise. They will concede to China the right to send troops through the foreign concessions at Tientsin if necessary. The Italian minister has withdrawn his request that Italy be given the rights to the Austrian concessions at Tien Tsin.

May Intern Germans.

President Chang Kwo Chang and the members of the Chinese cabinet are considering what concessions they will make to the entente allies in consideration for their liberality.
It is believed China probably will agree to intern Germans and Austro-Hungarians, place enemy ships in the hands of the entente allies for the duration of the war, enact a higher tariff against central powers and offer laborers or soldiers if they are desired.

The sentiment in official circles is in favor of China pointing the entente governments in signing the London conference agreement against a separate peace and tariff economic compact.

FEW AMERICANS
IN WAR HOSPITAL

Paris, Sept. 15.—The American hospital at Neuilly now has fewer than 12 Americans among its patients, this being the greatest number since the hospital was organized. Among them is Lincoln Chatkoff of New York, an aviator, attached to the French flying squadron, who has injuries in the head and leg. All the patients were reported last night to be progressing favorably. One has appendicitis, and another has a broken leg.

YOUTH PLAYING IN STREET IS HURT BY AUTO

Anton Moser, who is a student at the Mandan high school, was injured when he was struck by a motor car while playing in the street. He was taken to the hospital yesterday morning.

Moser's accident is another case of young boys playing in the street in this particular incident it was on Main street and was no fault of the auto driver. Moser is eight years old and was playing on Main street in front of O'Rourke's store. He did not see the auto coming and, in less time than it takes to say "so," he was knocked down and run over. Suffering from his wounds, he was picked up and hurried to the hospital, where a physician was called and his wounds treated.

MANDAN WOMEN FORM AUXILIARY

The Ladies' Auxiliary to Co. F was organized at an enthusiastic meeting late yesterday afternoon in the Mandan Commercial club rooms in the presence of about twenty enthusiastic military women workers. Mrs. P. W. McGillic was elected president, Mrs. F. W. McKenry, vice president, Mrs. E. J. Conrad, secretary and Mrs. G. A. Renden, treasurer. A committee of six ladies were named to assist the present in the work of the auxiliary.

Captain Wilson, Captain Robert Wilson of Co. F was present and gave a very interesting talk on the object of a ladies' auxiliary and the good they can do for their soldier boys. While his talk was not very long it was most instructive and most interesting and all present enjoyed it.

Officers Pro Tem.
Mrs. F. W. McKenry was selected chairman of the meeting and Miss Oliva Draper secretary pro tem. Object of the Auxiliary.
Mrs. P. W. McGillic the president said last evening it is not only the object of the local auxiliary to act for the boys of Company F but it is their object to look out for their welfare as much as possible and do what they can for every Mandan boy who is in the country's service regardless of what service he is in or where he is in his particular place he is doing his country's bidding and the local auxiliary wants to do the very best they can for them. In speaking of this particular matter Mrs. McGillic said:

NORTH DAKOTA BOYS LIKE WORK IN GREAT ARMY CAMPMENTS

North Dakota's construction quartermasters are making good in important southeastern posts. Advice from Major Harold Sorenson, Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga., to General Fraser are that work on the great cantonment there is well advanced, and that the boys of Company F, who are stationed there, to report for duty to the southeastern department at Charleston, S. LITTLE BARLEY IN WHEAT BEATS DOWN GRADE FOR A LOSS

Buying good wheat as No. 1 and being forced to sell it on the terminal markets as No. 2 because it chanced to have a few stray grains of barley in it isn't good business for the farmer nor the elevator man. In the opinion of John J. Peterka, manager of the Farmers' Elevator company at Voss, who today registers a healthy kick with the North Dakota railway commission.

Mr. Peterka says he has purchased a large amount of wheat containing a small percentage of barley and has accepted it as No. 1. All of this wheat, he declares upon reaching the terminal markets has been graded No. 2 and the elevator company has been compelled to accept a No. 2 price for

THOUSANDS OF HEAD OF FEEDERS WANTED TO SAVE CORN CROP

Farmers in one Iowa community, in the vicinity of Decorah, according to a report reaching the capital today, have banded together for the purchase of 5,000 North Dakota feeders as a means of saving their late corn, which has suffered severely from frost. This situation was predicted several weeks ago by Chicago commission men, who advised North Dakotans to hold their feeding stock until the fate of the Iowa and Kansas corn crops, about two weeks later than usual, was determined. The Chicago commission men prophesied that if the frost hit the Iowa and Kansas corn there would be an abnormal demand for feeding stock in those states, and that good prices would be offered. According to reliable information received today, this situation has arisen, and North Dakotans who have surplus cattle may be able to do much better with them than they have anticipated. Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor Hagan advised this afternoon that no formal report on this subject has been made to his department.

W. C. T. U. MEETS AT VALLEY CITY NEXT THURSDAY

State and National Workers to Address Annual Convention of Temperance Advocates

All Traces of Scrofula Eradicated from the System

By the greatest of all purifiers. A common mistake in the treatment of scrofula has been the use of mercury and other mineral matters, the effect of which is to poison the impurities in the blood, and leave them on the surface. The impurities and dangers are only added to in this way. For more than fifty years S. S. S. has been the one recognized reliable blood remedy that has been used with highly satisfactory results for Scrofula. Being made of the roots and herbs of the forest, it is guaranteed purely vegetable, and absolutely free from all mineral ingredients. You can obtain S. S. S. from any drugstore. it. This same wheat, after it has been released, Mr. Peterka believes, is sold to the millers as a very high quality of No. 1. He has some opinions of the government graders and grading systems which are not complimentary, and he is one of many North Dakota elevator men who believe the federal standards draw the line far too fine.

THOUSANDS OF HEAD OF FEEDERS WANTED TO SAVE CORN CROP

Farmers in one Iowa community, in the vicinity of Decorah, according to a report reaching the capital today, have banded together for the purchase of 5,000 North Dakota feeders as a means of saving their late corn, which has suffered severely from frost. This situation was predicted several weeks ago by Chicago commission men, who advised North Dakotans to hold their feeding stock until the fate of the Iowa and Kansas corn crops, about two weeks later than usual, was determined. The Chicago commission men prophesied that if the frost hit the Iowa and Kansas corn there would be an abnormal demand for feeding stock in those states, and that good prices would be offered. According to reliable information received today, this situation has arisen, and North Dakotans who have surplus cattle may be able to do much better with them than they have anticipated. Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor Hagan advised this afternoon that no formal report on this subject has been made to his department.

RUSSELL

Russia Doesn't Understand U. S.

U. S. Doesn't Understand Russia

ON

RUSSIA

This is another of the series of articles by Charles Edward Russell, staff writer of The Tribune, who has just returned from Russia, where he spent the last months as a member of the official United States commission to the new Russian government.

By CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL. (Copyright, 1917, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

The worst thing in the Russian situation is the failure of Russia to understand the United States and the failure of the United States to understand Russia.

This is a million times more important than the capture of Riga, forseen when I was in Petrograd, and in itself, not amounting to much.

But the misunderstanding is a grave matter, likely to lead to consequences still more serious.

Russia's misunderstanding about the United States is chiefly the work of the group of pro-German highlanders in the United States senate, led by old Bill Stone, for these continually misrepresent and pervert the United States to the Russian mind.

Our misunderstanding of Russia is due primarily to the "good story" habit of the American newspaper and the fact that the English speaking colony in Russia, as everywhere else, is reactionary and totally out of sympathy with the revolution.

There are 180,000,000 people in Russia. Every day among them will happen about 10 events, let us say, that might be cabled as news to America. On an average about two of the 10 are sent here. Everything depends upon the choice of the two.

By always picking out two that are depressing and ignoring eight that are encouraging I can in three weeks produce throughout the United States the fixed impression that everything in Russia has gone to perdition.

It is the depressing and disturbing things that make what are called "good stories."

Let us say that 10 Russian regiments are ordered to the front. One refuses to obey. We get the one that refuses but not a word about the nine that obey.

Hence, of course, we conclude that mutiny is rampant and universal in the Russian army.

It is exactly the same way about the attitude of Russia and Russians toward the war and fighting.

There is a certain element in Russia that is sick of the whole business and anxious to see peace made on any old terms—no doubt of that.

There is a certain element among the soldiers that would rather run away than fight; no doubt of that, either.

There is an element in the national council that still dreams of the universal nation, all boundaries broken down and all governments, except one, abolished.

There is an element on the German payroll that runs about preaching the German cause and opposing any active warfare.

There is an element that yearns to see the war out of the way because the war interferes with the vast program of social reforms to which this element is committed.

Every day in the week you can take the views and ideas of these elements and prove to your own perfect satisfaction that Russia will never fight again and is on the point of deserting the allies.

But none of these opinions would reflect average and typical Russia.

In exactly the same way here a foreigner could take La Follette and Gronna and prove that we are a nation of crack brained fanatics working for an autocratic form of government, or take old Bill Stone and prove that we are a nation of yellow streaks.

Average and typical Russia, like average and typical America—that is the thing that will decide, and the best way to get at real Russia was at the national council of workmen, soldiers' and peasants' delegates.

It is extraordinary that not one of the prophets that send out pessimism about Russia ever went near the council. Some of them did not know it existed, and some had it all mixed up in their minds with the local council of Petrograd.

In the council sat about 140 Bolsheviks, or extreme radicals, for one reason or another in favor of immediate peace on any terms.

Some of these are anarchists, some are syndicalists, some are crooks, some are honest dreamers and some are mad.

But on repeated test votes the largest they ever recorded for any proposal of theirs was 237; generally they cast 141.

THE GREAT MAJORITY OF THE REST OF THE 830 DELEGATES, REPRESENTING AVERAGE AND TYPICAL RUSSIA, ARE IN FAVOR OF VIGOROUSLY CARRYING ON THE WAR.

Nothing is ever said about them. All the attention is concentrated on the anarchists and dreamers. They make the "good story."

The council adjourned July 7, leaving an executive committee of 250 to carry on the government until the council should be reconvened, or the constituent assembly should be elected.

The way this executive committee was made up shows exactly how the council was divided and reflects the views of Russians at large. Because, you are to remember, the council was elected by universal suffrage in every part of Russia.

It was agreed that each political party should be represented in the executive committee in exact proportion to its strength in the council.

Line-Up of the Executive Committee. Social revolutionists (party to which Kerensky belongs), 99; menshevik (or moderate) section of the social democratic party, 104; bolshevik (or wild-eyed) section of the social democratic party, 35; people's socialist party (conservatives), 3; Jewish socialist labor party, 1; and united socialist democrats, 8.

This figured the actual bolshevik or wild eyed strength in the council at 119, out of 830, which about represents its share of strength in the whole nation.

One-seventh of the council and getting seventy-seven times as much attention as the other six-sevenths because what it says and does constitutes a "good story!"

If an American wants to size up Russia and get it straight, the best thing he can do is to lay hold of that fact

Or, take all these stories about anarchism running loose in Russia. We had one day while I was there the best possible testing out of the actual number of these loud noise makers, these hot-air specialists that the news dispatches take so seriously, and there proved to be 166 of them, all told.

And they, according to the dispatches, were about to overturn the government and let loose riot, ruin and destruction. What with?

WILL CELEBRATE FIRST DECISIVE VICTORY WHEN WOMEN COME TO BISMARCK

State Suffragette Organization Looking Forward With Enthusiasm to Convention

Unusual enthusiasm marks preparations for the annual convention of the North Dakota Votes for Women league, which this year will celebrate its first definite victory—the passing of an act by the last legislature extending to North Dakota women the limited franchise enjoyed by Illinois women, and the adoption of a concurrent resolution providing for the submission in 1919 of a constitutional amendment providing for universal suffrage. September 25 and 26 are the dates selected for the annual meetings, which will be held in Bismarck, with headquarters at the Hotel McKenzie. Mrs. Elizabeth Darrow O'Neill of Fargo is chairman of the program committee. Mrs. Robert Clendenning of Fargo is president.

Thought takes man out of servitude into freedom.—Emerson.

WHERE GERMANY SHOULD PAY.

The United States entered the war without any thought of indemnity or acquisition in any material form. But Uncle Sam should write that German bombing of American hospitals into his war diary and, when he comes to sit at the peace table, demand that the Teutonic brutes pay big for the deliberate, premeditated murders. And Germany will be made to pay, too, if justice at all sways the peace conference.

Maine is dry—of votes for women.

WITHOUT HONOR.

Judging by the experience of the United States and Argentina, nations still having German ambassadors in their midst had better arrest them on suspicion.

German autocracy has no conception of right, humaneness, or law in warfare and knows not what honor is in dealings with other peoples with whom it is at peace.

To put down such an element is not only the necessity but also the duty of civilization, and talk of making an agreement with it is sheer drivell.

There's one thing about the Maine suffrage defeat, they can't blame it on the brewers.

A NEAR BULLSEYE.

There's a near bullseye hit in the alliance for labor and democracy's call for the socialists to give all their backing to Uncle Sam's war management.

"German autocracy and militarism," says the alliance, "constitute the last citadel of the world's dark reactionary forces."

Socialism claims to aim at progress and light. German autocracy and militarism may not be the last citadel of darkness and reaction, but they certainly are the strongest. Are Americans socialists so wooden-headed that they cannot see that Germany's triumph would mean their death-blow as a political force? Some of the socialists are not so dense; they're hurrying out of the party.

Why don't the Swedish diplomats in America to get food from Uncle Sam, cable their estates from Argentine?

SHINE UP OLD GLORY!

Wash up the flag! The American eagle must fairly scream with wrath when his piercing eye falls upon the grimy banners which hang above many a true patriot's roof.

The flag is at its best when borne by marching men, or when it floats briskly from a tall standard or the highest point of a building against the blue sky.

But whatever its place, it is not at its best if it is dull with soot. Hundreds of our star-spangled banners are not waving proudly at all, at the present moment. In every village, city and town, from homes and stores, factories and schools, and churches, hang flags whose broad stripes and bright stars are dimly gray with smoke. But to the credit of the government, it is said that the flags on federal buildings are usually fresh and beautiful.

As a rule some careless janitor is at fault when old glory gets grimy. Therefore it is up to the owner, manager, trustee—to whoever has power to order the flag up—to see that its colors are kept pure red, white and blue. Whoever is loyal enough to raise a flag surely ought to be conscientious enough to keep it spotless. And keep the flag in repair. Patch it. Bind it. Tatters and tears are honorable only when they have been won in the service.

Hunting will stand soap and water, and it doesn't need ironing.

Honor your flag by keeping it clean!

One man went to war because his wife didn't wash his shirts. In the trenches he'll be happy if he can wash them himself.

OUR FIGHTING CONSTITUTION.

Whenever a man wants to oppose something that does not suit his own purposes, profits or fancy—especially if he be a lawyer—he waits that it violates the constitution of the United States. Behind the protecting folds of the dear old constitution all kinds of rascals, crooks and marplots have hidden in past days.

It is not surprising, now that we are in a great war, to hear many kinds of opposing our stand and all taking by harking back to the constitution. The narrow partisan fears are violating the constitution by considering too much power upon the president. The narrow legalist fears we are smashing the constitution when we draft an army and send it to foreign soil. The pro-German yelps we are breaking the provisions of the constitution when we do not ask a drafted man whether he is willing to go out of the country's confines.

These constitution idolaters are to be found in the halls of congress, and in the forums, where pacifist, I. W. W., pro-German and other seditious agitators spout their platitudes.

It is, therefore, refreshing to read a speech like that which Charles Evans Hughes delivered before the American Bar association. Whatever one may think of Hughes as a presidential candidate, there is no doubt he is an able lawyer. As a member of the United States supreme court it was his special province to scan every letter in that famous document and to ponder its meaning. But in this wartime period Hughes looks upon the constitution with the eyes of a loyal American citizen who is anxious to help and hinder his country in its task of crushing Germany. He looks at the document with plain, hard, common sense.

He finds it is "a fighting constitution" as well as a peace-time constitution. He emphatically finds the fathers of the republic did not simply sit down and contrive "a spectacle of imposing impotency." They dreamed of a country that would grow to greatness and they framed a measure which would allow for every expansion and every function of a great state. They knew a nation that could not fight would be powerless to secure the blessings of liberty for posterity. So in the words of Hughes, the constitution gave the power to wage war and "the power to wage war is the power to wage it successfully."

Self-preservation being the first law of national life, the constitution was so drawn as to give the president and congress the broadest powers in wartime.

Hughes holds that the document backs up the selective service law, gives the national authorities full power to send troops abroad, deals with treason and other seditious efforts, and allows for every kind of regulation of business, of food and fuel distribution—all with an eye to waging war successfully.

He finds ample justification for every grant of great power to President Wilson. He has little patience with those who think the command of armed forces and the conduct of campaigns should be in charge of a court or that there should be division of responsibility, such as is constantly urged by those in congress who want a snooping committee similar to that which was one of the greatest and gravest nuisances of Lincoln's many war-time trials.

Such a speech to such an assembly of American lawyers was needed. It cleared the air. It will put a stop to much learned twaddle both in and out of congress. It will reassure the timid that we are not in the midst of a revolution and we are not Mexicanizing the country.

Effective conduct of a war means much power has to be centralized in the hands of a few men. They must be men the nation can and does trust. There is no man it trusts more than its patient, sober-thinking, far-seeing, patriotic and democratic president. The power lodged in his hands will not be misused and it has not been placed there by illegal methods. The framers of the constitution arranged that it should be in the president's hands when the defense of the country demanded he be commander-in-chief of the armed forces on land and on sea.

The fathers of the republic wanted the country to win its wars, not to lose them. So they didn't frame a document whose paragraphs would lend aid and comfort to the enemy by hampering the men who have to carry on our battles.

Saturday Evening Letter By Justice J. E. Robinson

Auspicious Hope, in thy fair gardens grow Balm for each wound, a charm for every woe

This is the song I long to sing. Now is the winter of our discontent. Made glorious summer by the promptness and efficiency of our judges. And all the clouds that lowered o'er our heads Are buried 'neath the bosom of the deep.

There can be no civic reform without greater efficiency in the public service. And it seems vain to hope for greater efficiency until the public and the press demand it and make the demand manifest and emphatic. The public servants must be given to understand that their time belongs to the state and when they steal their time they steal money and put themselves on a par with money stealers, that is to say, with common thieves.

General Townley and his press have the means of making the demand for efficiency urgent and insistent and of pointing the finger of publicity to all those who fail in doing their duty. Why don't they do it? Do they hope to achieve reform by simply changing the public servants and not doing a thing to secure efficiency in the service?

The purpose of these weekly letters is to throw the light of publicity on the procedure of our courts and judges so we may each and all have a greater incentive to do our duty and to make the public service as prompt and efficient as any private service. In each weekly letter I think it well to give the number of cases we turn off during the week, the number on the docket and the number submitted and undecided.

During the past six weeks we have made little or no progress. We have not had a quorum of the judges. We still have on hand awaiting a decision some twenty-five cases that were argued and submitted months ago. We must confess and do penance and pledge our vow for the future. We still have hope that from now on during the present year each judge of our court will take pride in devoting all his time to his duties at the capitol so that by Christmas we may be right up with the work.

Pleased I am that the judicial reforms advocated in these letters have met the approval of the American Bar association session at Saratoga, New York. Now as soon as I can publish a book of my LETTERS, ESSAYS AND DECISIONS, it will not be necessary for any judge to incur the expense of a trip to Saratoga. Our judges are not without excuse when they go off on trips and leave their work undone and when they waste the time in writing long-winded decisions. Such has been the common practice of the state. In former times the judges did not blush for sname when they took an outing for months. They did not seem to realize that it was a crime to steal their time for which they received good money. They forgot their sworn duty to administer justice without delay or delay. Now it will be different. The American Bar association has spoken and their voice must be heard and obeyed. They have condemned the delays and technicalities of the judges and the writing of long-winded decisions which consist mainly of stuffing and padding. The purpose of every decision should be to state the facts and the law with the utmost simplicity and clearness. There should be no padding or discussion of side issues or points which do not affect the merits of the case.

In 1913 at the session of the American Bar association held at Montreal, Canada, Mr. Justice Riddell of Ontario made an address in which he said: "I find in some of the United States there is a great deal of objection to the length of time a case takes to try. I have been at the bar and on the bench over thirty years. I never heard but one jurymen ask the question as to whether he was reading the papers. I never saw it take more than half an hour to get a jury in a criminal case. I never tried a case that took over a day and a quarter. Our people do not submit to legal delays. I will give you an example. I was in the City of London, Ontario. I was there and opened an assize court on the same day that in Detroit, Michigan, they began a trial of a murder case. I had tried a murder case, a manslaughter case and two grand cases, all with a jury of course, and without a jury I had tried seven civil cases, closed my criminal and civil list, and was home at Toronto when in Detroit they had not got six jury-men.

Under proper rules our courts can proceed with as much efficiency and dispatch as the courts in Canada. Our judges and lawyers will never admit that they are in any way inferior to those in Canada. Last January I submitted to the court a draft of rules to expedite and better the practice which appeared to meet with the approval of the other judges but so far we have had so much absence and so many delays that we have not adopted a single rule. And it is not uncommon to see our courts waste half a day instead of half an hour on the trial or examination of jurors or persons called to serve as jurors. And on the trial of a case the counsel waste half the time by making needless objections and exceptions which should no longer be tolerated. It should be known that courts will not try cases on objections and exceptions.

We must amend the rules so that every case will be tried on its merits. By the constitution this court is charged with the supervision, with supervisory control over all inferior courts. It is our sworn duty to see that justice is administered without denial or delay. We must do it or know the reason why. September 15th, 1917.

ROOT IN STIRRING ADDRESS DEFINES

(Continued from Page One.) terminated, and the United States is at war with Germany. "The power to make such a decision is the most essential, vital and momentous of all the powers of government. No nation can maintain its independence or protect its citizens against oppression or continue to be free which does not vest the power to make that decision in some designated authority, or which does not recognize the special and imperative duties of citizenship in time of war following upon such a decision lawfully made.

War After Waiting. "The power in this instance was exercised not suddenly or rashly, but cautiously, after a long delay and discussion and patience under provocation, after repeated diplomatic warnings to Germany; after breach of diplomatic relations with Germany, after long opportunity for reflection and discussion following that notice; and after a formal and deliberate presentation by the president to congress of the reasons for action.

"The decision was made by overwhelming majorities of both houses of congress. When such a decision has been made the duties—and therefore the rights—of all the people of the country immediately changed. It becomes their duty to stop discussion upon the question and to proceed immediately to do everything in their power to enable the government of their country to succeed in the war.

Must Accept Decision. "A nation which declares war and goes on discussing whether it ought to have declared war or not, is impotent, paralyzed, imbecile and earns the contempt of mankind and the certainty of humiliating defeat and subjection to foreign control. A democracy which cannot accept its own decisions, made in accordance with its own laws, but must keep on endlessly discussing the question already decided, has failed in the fundamental requirements of self-government.

"Lut, after the decision in favor of war, the country has ranged itself; and the only issue left for the individual citizen is whether he is for or against his country. From that time on, arguments against the war in which the country is engaged is treason. The effect is to hinder and lessen the popular support of the government in carrying on the war which is necessary to success. Their manifest purpose is to prevent action by continuing discussion. They encourage the enemy. They tend to introduce delay and irresolution into our councils.

DRIVING BY WOMEN
NOT MERELY A FAD
The ever-increasing number of women drivers of gasoline motor cars is by no means the result of a fad, in the opinion of W. E. Lahr, local Willits-Overland dealer. On the contrary, he says that it is but the natural result of a quickening spirit of responsibility and independence and a consequent desire on the part of women to extend their ability in practical and useful fields.

The militaristic trend of the nation, so many men having joined the army and navy, has also encouraged many women, through necessity, to learn to drive their cars, he points out. "Once a woman has learned to drive her car," says Mr. Lahr, "it is very infrequent that she gives it up. Like most useful arts, the driving of an automobile brings unexpected delights. There is a latent fascination for most every man or woman in mechanics and when one realizes the easy mastery of a machine wherein a power equal to 30 or more horses is waiting for one's command, the sensation is just as enjoyable for women as for members of the other sex."

Mr. Lahr then refers to the mechanical improvements in the modern car which have made it possible to operate one with practically no technical understanding of its makeup. He cites the Willits-Overland products as examples of this and says:

Weak Eyes Make School Work Poor

Often children of school age have defects in refraction which put strain on the eyes. These defects keep them from seeing sharply and the strain to do so tires them out. They can't do as good work in school as they should.

SPORT CHATTER

Mrs. Disston of Philadelphia offers a trophy for the best woman golfer in her club. It's not a saw, it's a cup.

Gunboat Smith and Frank Moran have been boxing each other so many times they might soon become friends.

Penny Leonard wants to show he's no slacker when it comes to entertaining our soldiers in camp. We don't hear much of golfers being drafted: Is it because our generals are afraid they'll corrupt the morals of the soldiers?

Comiskey is already planning the White Sox spring training. Taking a lesson from Uncle Sam.

The more hits and runs the Reds and Tigers pile up, it seems, the less their chance to move up in this world.

Charley White Is Aching for Leonard's Title, But Benny May Be Fighting Shy

Charley White

Charley White, the meek little schoolboy of 12 years ago, is aching to get after Benny Leonard for the lightweight championship. The Chicago youngster—he's only 26—has fought Freddie Welsh, world's champion, three times to no decision and the East Side boxer has also met the champion in two no-decision battles.

Leonard happens to be five years younger than Charley and has had only five years experience in the ring, while White has been fighting the last 11 years.

Although Charley boasts he would be the American champion if he ever met Leonard, there is some doubt when it comes to lining up the two men. White and Leonard are in good trim, the former taking on anyone who happens to come along and the latter making rounds of the various cantonments in the United States staging exhibition fights for the soldiers' entertainment. Benny has been keeping quiet about Charley White's anxiety to meet him. But a scrap between the two cannot be avoided. It is coming, and mighty soon, too.

Leonard has only to meet a man like Ted Lewis or Johnny Griffiths, both of whom Charley White fought to a draw. Then the fireworks will start.

Lewis and Griffiths are a bit too heavy for Leonard and they're more interested in higher stakes than the lightweight title, but Lewis' recent refusal to meet Griffiths at the 145-pound limit may give Benny courage enough to challenge Ted to a duel.

If Benny Leonard can go the full 10 rounds with Ted Lewis it will be proof enough of his ability to put up an excellent battle against White, in spite of the latter's advantages. The best Leonard could do against Lewis would be a mighty hard job for Lewis to get the best of the youngster within the 10 rounds.

As to a scrap between the two lightweights, both have an even chance to win. Charley's advantage in years and experience is offset by Benny's speed and wonderful tactics.

months to leave for France, but which sees no immediate departure. Parker and McPherson also may return to fill gaps in the line. Don Harper, a son of former President Harper of the University probably will be a candidate for center.

"Red" Jackson, a brother of last year's captain, is regarded as the only member of last year's freshman squad up to the varsity standard. Curtis, the track and baseball star, may attempt to win a place in the backfield.

Frank Pershing, who was chosen captain of the 1917 eleven, is among those who have enlisted for military duty. Pershing is a nephew of the American commander in France. Young Pershing is at the Rock Island arsenal learning all about ordnance.

Others who have graduated or who have enlisted are: Captain Jackson, tackle; Schafer, Azar, Graham, Gordon and Cain, halfbacks; Pershing and Knipschild, quarterbacks; Norgren, end; Fisher, center; Hanish, fullback.

Association are crowded in these periods, with soldiers writing letters home. Looking gloves and baseballs get strenuous use. Long files form before the Y. M. C. A. desks where books and magazines from the city library are distributed to the soldiers.

Just a little while ago I came from one of the Y. M. C. A. auditoriums, where a crowd of soldiers was seeing a moving picture show.

They watched in approval a travel film. They laughed at an up-to-the-minute comedy. Then came a topical weekly, and what followed gave me a real thrill.

"Sammy sail from An American Port For France," said the heading. We saw a file of men in khaki march by to board a transport.

Cheers, yells and handclapping made the inside of that auditorium ring.

Then, on the screen, the flag went by.

And every man jumped to his feet and stood at attention. The awkwardness, the varied dress of this new army was forgotten.

I fancied I could see in the not very distant future, this new "army of average Americans" itself trim and well disciplined, marching toward France, ready to do all and more than America hopes of it.

NEW REGIME TROUBLED BY KORNILOFF'S FATE

must face the reproach that it executed common soldiers for less serious offenses, and it would be virtually impossible to impose the death penalty in the future.

Against this, are the facts of General Korniloff's brilliant services, his chivalrous and personal character, and the happy circumstances that there has been no bloodshed so far.

The newly appointed cabinet is abain a meeting. M. Salski, secretary to Premier Kerensky, who is a member of the council of the social revolution party, informed the Associated Press yesterday that committee of the social democrats and social revolutionists drew up identical resolutions, declaring it would be impossible to collaborate with Premier Kerensky if constitutional democrats were made ministers, but voting on the resolution has been postponed until this evening, and there is every hope of an agreement.

Both parties accept the principles of a coalition cabinet, and have no objection to constitutional democrats becoming ministers, on condition that they leave immediately the party. The ground for this decision is the view of this party that the constitutional democrats, as a whole, sided with General Korniloff. The parties further demand the convocation of a new congress on the lines of that held in Moscow, from which, however, the members of all four dumas would be excluded. It is urged that the congress must meet not later than September 23, and sit until the meeting of the constitutional assembly.

Secretary Soskice added that Premier Kerensky now is in excellent health despite the fact that during the crisis he was worked 18 hours daily.

Quicken Interest in War. Judging from the tone of press comment, party and individual expressions of opinion, which are raising in the Korniloff episode, have had the effect of quickening interest in the war and convincing the public that

War Will Not Put Ban on Western Football Contests During 1917 Season

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 15.—Despite the fact that many of its former stars and prospective stars have entered military service, the University of Minnesota probably will have a strong football team this fall. Coach Harry L. Williams will have a goodly supply of material, including five members of last year's regular and freshman squads.

The presence of George Hauser, captain of the 1917 team, will strengthen one side of the line materially. Other veterans will include Norman Kingsley, who substituted at fullback for Wyman last year, Conrad Ecklund and Paul Flynn.

Neal Arneston, of the 1916 freshman team, and Willie Van Nest, 1916 substitute, give promise of good quarterback material. Others expected to report include Henry Williams, son of the Gopher coach, Gerald Case, Herman Sinacoe, Arthur France, Merville Guterman and James Greven.

Intramural football will be developed and teams representing various colleges of the University carefully coached as a branch of the varsity system, thus providing more material from which Dr. Williams may draw his squad.

CHICAGO GETS BUSY
 Chicago, Sept. 15.—The third of the football resounded throughout the campus of the "Big Ten" eleven today—the first official practice day of the season. Opening games will be played three weeks hence.

From every camp came reports of the serious problems confronting coaches due to the heavy increase in the war made on athletics. Practically every institution in the Western Conference lost its gridiron stars of a year ago. A majority of them won commissions in officers' training camps and are now officers of the new national army. Others, however, enlisted in the navy or other branches of the service.

Although the crop of players will be younger than usual, the same old fighting spirit will prevail, and critics believe followers of the sport are due for an agreeable surprise in the class of capable players that will be developed. They say there are "just as good fish in the sea" etc.

Some critics believe there will be more interest in football this year than ever. The absence of star players, the argue, will make the games more evenly contested as a foregone conclusion. As the exodus of athletes has been general one college will be about on par with all others in the matter of material.

Two or three veterans will form the nucleus of teams in almost every instance. Undeveloped, unskilled players—youths who have never played the gridiron sport—will make up the remaining spots in the machine.

In the Western Conference, the return of the University of Michigan will stimulate interest although the Wolverines will meet only one conference eleven—Northwestern—this season. The performance of the Wolverines, however, will be watched more keenly as they are certain to arrange four or five games with "Big Ten" eleven's next season.

Gloom is thick at Northwestern because so many members of the team have responded to the nation's call. Those of the 1916 eleven who are in military service are: Girard, half back; Driscoll, half back; Johnson, end; Thomas, Charles Higgins, all western guard center; Norman, end; Putnam, may play. Higgins is a member tackle; Bennett, end and Brumback, tackle. Driscoll would not have been expecting for three have been eligible anyway because he had signed with the Chicago Nationals before he was drafted.

In addition to these players, Coach Murphy found that a host of promising material expected from the squad of freshmen had enlisted. Smith, center; Williams, half back, and Zanger, guard, were lost to the team through graduation.

Coach Murphy plans to build his team around Kohler, the plunging fullback of last year's eleven; Gesler and Mulder, and Arries and Lynch, ends; Kohler is the only one of these players who performed regularly last fall. The others were put into the play as substitutes.

There is a prospect that Brightnair, Ellingwood and Underhill—all of whom played a brilliant game for the Northwestern last fall—may return to school. Brightnair went to the officers' training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison, but lost out because of "flat feet"—something his football opponents didn't discover last fall.

Northwestern plays the University at Evanston on Nov. 24 and Coach Murphy is eager to develop a squad capable of making a determined showing against the Wolverines.

There also is plenty of gloom in the University of Chicago camp. Coach Stagg faces one of the hardest football problems of his career, as last year's team is literally shot to pieces as the result of enlistments and loss of stars through graduation.

It is probable that Stagg will build his team around Gorgas and Bondinski, guards, and Carl Brelos, end. There also is a ray of hope in the announcement that half back Johnson, end Thomas, Charles Higgins, all western guard center; Norman, end; Putnam, may play. Higgins is a member tackle; Bennett, end and Brumback, tackle. Driscoll would not have been expecting for three

NOSE FOR BOOZE ON PART OF BAGGEMAN LANDS BLINDPIGGER

Smells Out the Stuff, Notified Aberdeen, Sheriff, and Star. prise Is Sprung

Aberdeen, S. D., Sept. 15.—A good nose for booze on the part of a Milwaukee line baggage-man resulted in the arrest at Barnard of Ted Smith, charged with bootlegging. While transferring baggage, the smasher's nose detected a familiar odor in connection with a certain trunk. He set it aside and called up Sheriff Wyckoff, who found the trunk to contain several quarts of alcohol and a number of bottles of whiskey, one of which had been broken. Sheriff Wyckoff rescued the trunk and directed it to be forwarded to Barnard. He was there when the trunk arrived, and when Smith came to claim it he was arrested.

General Korniloff's rebellion has ended with his arrest and General Lomkosky commander on the Russian northern front. The actual military leader in the rebellious movements, General Krymoff, is dead with self-inflicted wounds, and the ultimate fate of the arrested leaders is causing wide discussion.

The Russian army on the Riga front continues to display a fighting spirit and has captured three additional towns.

Meet Reverses. The heavy attack made by the Germans north of Caurieres wood on the Verdun front yesterday noted them little advantage. Paris reports today that they were ejected last night from the greatest part of the trenches they had occupied. Two surprise attacks by troops of the Crown Prince in the Champagne met with repulse.

On the Flanders front, the British last night advanced their lines slightly by attacks east of Wechoke. They held the ground gained during the day near St. Quentin in the face of a counter blow.

200 COUPLES ENJOY DANCE FOR SOLDIERS

House Chamber at Capitol Scene
Last Night of Brilliant Social Assemblage

GOVERNOR AND WIFE
LEAD THE GRAND MARCH

Chief Executive and Mrs. Frazier
Honor Event With Presence

—Proceeds Large

In spite of most unfavorable weather conditions, muddy roads and rain-drenched landscape without, the house chamber at the capitol last evening was alive with warmth and good cheer and was made the scene of one of the most brilliant social assemblages in the history of the state. More than 200 couples braved the bad weather to dance as guests of Bismarck lodge, B. P. O. E., for the benefit of the mess funds of the Bismarck national guard units, and they were many times overpaid for their fortitude.

The huge assembly room was ablaze with light and color when the grand march, led by Governor and Mrs. Frazier, Adjutant General Angus Fraser, Colonel Frank White, Lieutenant Colonel T. H. Tharalson, and various members of the governor's administrative staff, began under the direction of R. L. Best, master of ceremonies, who had as his principal aide George W. Cochrane. About 150 couples participated in the march, which as its close melted into a waltz to the drumbeat and most seductive of measures from the Second regiment band of Harvey. The large floor immediately was alive with dancers, and from that hour until the last encore was played at 2 o'clock this morning, the terpsichorean revels continued with unabated vivacity.

Beautiful gowns, well groomed men, chick military uniforms mingled in a beautiful ensemble. The walls and the galleries were lined with spectators, and the legislative hall was alive with that air of happy excitement which marks the pinnacle of success of an achievement of this nature.

Throughout the evening ice cream, cake, coffee, mint wafers and punch were served, the refreshment stand in the lobby, where an able committee of the Elks' best caterers presided, being especially popular. The galleries were well patronized by spectators who did not care to dance, and in the rotunda of the main floor the governor held court throughout the evening, while Mrs. Frazier joined merrily in the dance. There was an unusually good representation of the state's administrative family, and all entered heartily into the spirit of the affair. A thick sprinkling of officers and enlisted men of the Second regiment and of the Second battalion of the First gave the event an attractive military air, which lent a special charm.

Bismarck's best society was out in force, and it mingled democratically with new-found friends among the soldiers and with the many guests from out of town. It was an occasion for the introduction of the season's best gowns, and there were worn many beautiful creations worthy of special description were printer's ink adequate to interpret such filmy, elusive devices of Miss Modiste.

The Second regiment band never has acquitted itself more creditably. The band was liberal with its encores and the dancers fervid in appreciation. Every dance strung out into two or three numbers. A program which had been framed to fill three hours extended into five.

Elks Good Managers.
The experienced and efficient management of the Bismarck Elks was everywhere in evidence. No details had been overlooked. There were no hitches of any kind. The railway commission rooms on the ground floor had been reserved for the ladies, and the board of control offices for the men. Every floor of the state house displayed the national colors. Custodian Laist had hidden with beautiful flags ugly gaps in the walls resulting from alterations now in progress. An atmosphere of warmth and festivity pervaded every nook and corner of the big building.

Probably $1,500 Cleared.
While a detailed report from the Elks' executive committee is not available today, it is safe to state that not less than $1,500 has been cleared for the mess funds of Co. A, First regiment and Co. I and headquarters company of the Second. The expenses were comparatively light, and many tickets were sold to couples whom the bad weather prevented from attending. Reports are still to be received from the out of town sales. The proceeds may far exceed the minimum amount mentioned.

Soldiers Contribute.
An interesting feature which contributed much to the enjoyment of the evening was a setting up drill presented by several squads of guardsmen in advance of the grand march. The soldiers went through their maneuvers with machine-like precision, and were heartily cheered.

The capitol street car line ran from 8:30 until after 2 a. m., caring for scores who could not have been accommodated by the taxis, which did their noble best, but had hard work in navigating the hub-deep mud in the streets which have been excavated in preparation for paving. Cars were mired in several places and their occupants compelled to walk through the rain to shelter. The capitol car, however, ran without difficulty, and rendered service for which grateful appreciation was extended the board of control and Superintendent M. J. O'Connor.

Deft, Brilliant and Light Comedy Features Of "Erstwhile Susan"

The most distinguished American actress, Henrietta Crosman, in a new comedy entitled, "Erstwhile Susan," is to be seen at the Auditorium Saturday night, Sept. 22.

Miss Crosman's visits are always events of importance and interest to playgoers, and the announcement of her coming is a welcome one. This engagement takes on additional interest since it marks the return of Miss Crosman to the field in which she is at her best, that of deft, brilliant, light comedy. It is with such a role, giving her opportunity for the display of all those delightful methods of comedy recalled so pleasantly in "Getting Married" and in "The Merry Wives of Windsor," that she has been supplied in "Erstwhile Susan" by its author, Marian de Forest. Miss de Forest's comedy is founded on Helen H. Martin's novel, "Barnabette," and introduces in the theater for the first time an entirely new and novel environment, that of life among the Dutch in their Pennsylvania settlements. The author has succeeded admirably in transferring to the stage the quaint characteristics of a most interesting group of people and has supplied Miss Crosman with one of the most delightful comedy roles she has had in recent seasons.

Miss Crosman is amusing and ingenuously as Susan Miller, an affected, posing woman, high flown in speech and "individual" in dress, who replies to an advertisement for a wife and finds herself married to Barnaby Drearly, a tight-fisted, surly Pennsylvania Dutchman, with three grown children. How Susan, despite her curiously personality and her airs and graces, gets the upper hand of the unpleasant conditions surrounding her new lot, her efforts reaching a climax when she settles in surprising and novel fashion the love affairs of little Barnabette, whom she learns to love with the deepest of a mother's affections, forms an interesting and amusing story.

The company surrounding Miss Crosman is a capable and carefully chosen one.

NONE INJURED.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 15.—No soldiers or others were wounded, and no evidence can be found to substantiate last night's report that a troop train was fired upon near Steubenville, according to an announcement made here today from the office of the Pennsylvania railroad. Detectives reported that something was hurled at the train, presumably a stone, and that one window was broken.

THIRD NATIONAL GUARD REGIMENT TO BE ORGANIZED

Governor Frazier Hints in Letter to Rugby Home Guard That Action May Come Soon

FEDERAL LEGISLATION
IS FIRST NECESSARY

Statutes Must Be Changed—Reserve Battalions Held Up—
Charlotte for Troops

The organization of a third national guard regiment, with the several fully organized home guard companies as a nucleus, is presaged in a letter from Governor Lynn J. Frazier to officers of the Rugby home guard, who recently made application for uniforms and equipment and for national recognition.

Under senate bill No. 325, introduced at the last session by Senator Allen, Governor Frazier has full authority to organize as many guard regiments as he may see fit, or as many as the state may be able to finance. The last legislature materially increased the appropriation for the national guard, in anticipation of the organization of a second regiment, and the amount available for the current biennium is $85,000.

Governor Given Authority.
Senate bill No. 325 provides: "The national guard of the state of North Dakota shall consist of such regiments, corps or other units as the governor of the state may from time to time authorize to be formed. All such organizations to be organized in accordance with the laws governing the regular army and the regulations issued by the secretary of war."

"The governor," said General Frazier, "may organize a regiment of state militia at any time, but under the present federal statutes he would be unable to obtain federal aid, equipment and ordnance for such troops. Eastern states are attempting to put through congress legislation which will enable the governor of any state to form the home guard units into regiments which will have federal assistance. Our appropriation of $85,000 is to cover the two-year period, and it would not be sufficient to equip and arm a new regiment of state militia."

The governor doubtless referred to this proposed federal legislation when he wrote his Rugby letter.

Reserve Held Up.
The original select service law provided for the organization of a reserve battalion for each select service regiment sent out of the state and decreed that such battalions should be held in training at the state mobilization camp to fill vacancies in the fighting forces and keep them constantly at war strength.

This provision would mean the concentration at Fort Lincoln of two battalions of 600 enlisted men each, which with commissioned officers, would make a total force of about 1,300 men. The war department has temporarily waived this regulation, and it is probable that it will not be enforced until the period of training for the first draft is well under way, and possibly not until the first national army is called out of the country.

To Charlotte, N. C.
At local military headquarters the belief is now general that the First and Second North Dakota regiments will train at Camp Green, Charlotte, N. C. This, they are convinced, will mean early action for the Flickertail fighters on the French battlefronts. Some of the officers of the North Dakota infantry already have negotiated for quarters at Charlotte, and their wives are planning to accompany them.

TAKE OVER SUGAR TRADE.
Washington, Sept. 15.—By presidential proclamation today the entire sugar industry in the United States was placed under the food administration, to be conducted under a license system, which will control manufacture, distribution and importation.

Awaiting Motherhood

Women, almost without exception, are prone to nervous apprehension when on the road to motherhood. A woman knows that however many people there are close to her, she must face the crisis alone.

There is nothing to be prepared for at such a time that receives such heartfelt expressions of gratitude as does the absolute safe, tried and reliable preparation, "Mother's Friend."

The expanding muscles of the abdomen relax naturally when baby arrives. The nerves, ligaments and tendons beneath the skin are soothed; the tendency to morning nausea is avoided, and the expectant mother enjoys days of cheerfulness. The rights are not disturbed with nervous twitchings and the crisis is one of great happiness and less pain. Get a bottle from the drugist and write the Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. N, 200 Lamar Building, Atlanta, Ga., for their interesting little book, "Motherhood and the Baby." It will be sent without charge to any woman. "Mother's Friend" is a wonderful help to nature and no woman should fail, by any chance, to apply it herself night and morning.
